

Compression garment Leeds 4111

Indication

- After breast surgery, during the healing phase - for stabilisation and support
- For post-operative lymphoedema (for relief and aftercare)

Application / Special features

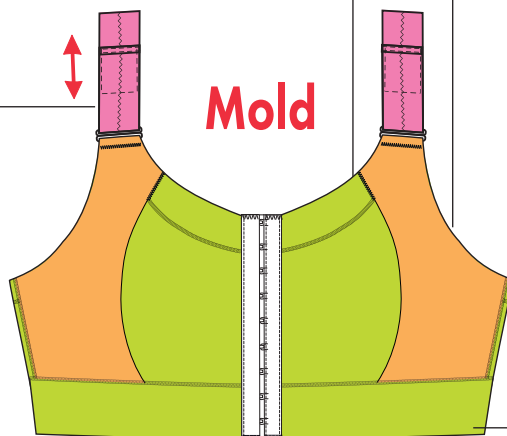

- The special 3D dot texture achieves a light massage on the dermis in combination with the movement and supports the compression effect without straining
- Immobilisation of the operated breast during the healing process
- Relief of the lymphatic drainage channels
- Evenly dosed compression pressure counteracts swelling
- Promotes better scar formation
- Reduces pressure points and tissue irritation through individual fit and skin-friendliness

New post-surgery compression garment available from spring/summer 2024

Cut high in the back for circular compression for good support for lymphoedema in the armpit and back area

Open ends (clean cut) and flat seams on the inside minimise interruptions in the lymph flow

Continuous, wide and soft straps provide optimal relief and prevent pressure points

2-way adjustable hook and eye closure at front for a custom fit

Double-layer, open clean-cut edge solution offers support and high wearing comfort
